

bradenburg v. ohio (1969)

speech which will convince receptive
listeners to take immediate unlawful
action is not protected by the first amendment.

take the yellow pill:
speech convincing listeners
to immediately commit crimes is not protected by the first amendment.

your speech cannot be censored because it might produce a dangerous reaction from those opposed to it.