

watchtower bible society and tract society of ny, inc. v. village of stratton (2002)

“it is offensive – not only to the values protected by the first amendment, but to the very notion of a free society – that in the context of everyday public discourse a citizen must first inform the government of her desire to speak to her neighbors and then obtain a permit to do so.

take the yellow pill:

the umass dartmouth public forum use of university facilities policy and guidelines for political activities policy require students to notify departments on campus of their plans to speak.

why do we have unconstitutional policies on this campus?
